Biography - Coral Levett

Coral has held the positions of ANF Federal President and NSW Nurses' Association President since 2003. She is currently employed full time in the public health sector as the Nursing Learning and Development Manager for the South Eastern Sydney Illawarra Area Health Service in NSW.

Coral's nursing background was originally in cardiac nursing, with experience in roles including RN, CNS, NE and NUM. She is focussed on issues relating to clinical nursing, education and the health reform agenda, and believes that nurses and midwives should continue to become actively involved in areas that influence clinical practice, health policy and the future direction of the nursing and midwifery professions.

More recently, Coral has become actively involved in the ongoing education of nurses and midwives and is involved in leadership programs with a multidisciplinary focus. Coral believes that through effective leadership, nurses and midwives will be better placed to influence positive health outcomes for the community through active participation in the political and industrial health agendas.

Strong and experienced leadership working as a cohesive team with Ged Kearney and Lee Thomas is critical if we are to further improve the interests of nurses and midwives in Australia.
