

Biography – Lee Thomas

Lee Thomas is the Federal Secretary of the Australian Nursing Federation, the third largest, and one of the fastest growing unions in Australia.

Lee's priority for the ANF is to ensure that it is one of the strongest industrial, political, professional and campaigning unions in Australia. Membership growth in the private and aged care sectors and increasing members power are paramount to the ANF and to Lee.

Lee commenced nursing as a personal care attendant in aged care, and completed her

General Nurse education at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Adelaide and subsequently her Midwifery education at the Queen Victoria Hospital in 1987. Lee also holds a Bachelor of Nursing and a neonatology certificate, is a registered midwife, and is currently enrolled in a law degree.

Prior to taking on her current role as ANF's Federal Secretary Lee served as Assistant Federal Secretary, and prior to that Lee served as Branch Secretary of the Australian Nursing Federation (SA Branch), where she focused on membership growth and enterprise bargaining across all sectors.
